ILLUMINATED

IN PHOTOS & WORDS

The faces we see each day tell stories. At Centre 454, we have the honour of hearing beautiful, inspiring, and sometimes heart-wrenching stories. There are many smiles, many tears, and most of all, so much hope.

We have been moved to create ILLUMINATED, an exhibit of black and white portraits taken by photographer Onno Kremers during Centre 454's 60th anniversary year. Unlike conventional photographs associated with homelessness, Onno's images show the faces of our community, making a human connection that draws us in deeper.

The portraits, together with glimpses into the stories, highlight the humanity of our community and break down some of the stereotypes often associated with homelessness.

It's not what we look at that matters. It's what we see.
