Sun, Sea and Song - All Ages Fall Festival

Art, science and music inspired by our skies and seas!

The Deanery Project on the beautiful Eastern Shore is hosting “Sun, Sea and Song” on Sunday, October 16th from 1:00 - 5:00. The all-ages festival brings together artists, musicians, and scientists for interactive activities connecting visitors with nature, bioluminescence, biodiversity, biochar, ocean lore, astronomy and more.

The stage will be hopping with live tunes, and the waterfront trail will be open. Program highlights include: Dalhousie University’s Sea to School team creating glowing sea creatures and David Chapman sharing tales and tools for exploring the universe. In the wake of Fiona workshops and demos about Living Shorelines and ways to improve biodiversity will be particularly relevant. Art making, games on the field, and walkabouts of the Deanery’s many natural building demonstrations will make for special family day.

Tasty treats from Noor’s Mediterranean Kitchen will be available for purchase, or bring a picnic!

Suggested minimum donation of $5/person. Purchase tickets in advance via e-transfer here. or at the door. Program details on Instagram and Facebook leading up to the event!

The Deanery Project is a not-for-profit organization with a focus on the environment, the arts, youth and community, natural building and permaculture. Open year round the space offers programs and projects related to our forests, oceans, food and community.
